House Ties Strings On Proposed Fund For the UNRRA

Committee in a Turndown on an Amendment for A 'Free Press'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—(P)—The House Appropriations committee tied several legislative strings today to a recommended new $550,000,000 fund for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration (UNRRA).

But it turned down, after hearing State Department opposition, a proposed "Free Press" amendment which would have required nations receiving UNRRA aid to give United States newsmen free access to UNRRA news abroad.

The recommended $550,000,000 would boost to $1,350,000,000 the total United States contribution to the agency set up by 45 United Nations to provide relief and rehabilitation to liberated countries.

That was the total amount originally promised by this country as its contribution to the cooperative organization. Total contributions of all nations up to last September 30 were $1,284,166,000.

But Herbert H. Lehman, director general of UNRRA, told the committee an additional appropriation of $1,350,000,000 will be necessary soon.

Proposed Restrictions

The committee wrote these restrictions into the legislation:

1. No new relief supplies shall be shipped to any country except China after December 31, 1946, and none to China after March 31, 1947. The committee said it wanted to "establish well in advance a date for cessation of activity."

2. As much as possible, surplus agricultural commodities must be used in filling UNRRA's needs.

3. None of the money shall be used after December 31, 1945, unless UNRRA certifies that recipient countries have agreed to make available to UNRRA all information on trade and barter agreements and satisfactory information on exports. This requires recipient nations also to agree to furnish UNRRA inspectors with "all necessary facilities, credentials, documents and safe conduct" necessary for on-the-scene investigations.

The latter limitation so the committee said, is intended to enable UNRRA to "make an intelligent determination of the need for relief or rehabilitation in any country," or determine whether supplies are reaching their destinations and being used properly.

During its hearings on the legislation, the committee heard reports that official UNRRA personnel has been denied free movement in some countries receiving aid.

In rejecting an amendment by Rep. Herter (R-Mass.) to give newsmen "full liberty to observe and report upon the distribution and utilization" of UNRRA supplies, the committee followed the advice of Lehman and Assistant Secretary of State William L. Clayton. It did not act on a broader proposal by Rep. Clarence Brown (R-Ohio) to give American newsmen free activity privileges in all reporting in countries receiving UNRRA funds.

Both Herter's and Brown's amendments were expected to be

Steve Souttar
Back to Fox

Steve Souttar, recently discharged from the Army Air Corps, after two years service, has arrived in Sedalia and taken over his old duties as manager of the Fox and Liberty Theatres. He relieves Aaron Gardner who took over the theatres when Mr. Souttar entered the service.

Mr. Souttar had been manager of the Fox Theatre for 14 months before receiving his call. He was a corporal in the air corps and served in England, France and Trinidad, and returned to the States a little more than a month ago, receiving his discharge at Jefferson Barracks.

During his absence from Sedalia Mrs. Souttar remained at her home in Boonville. Mr. and Mrs. Souttar are now located at 420 West Seventh street, where they have an apartment.

Mr. Gardner is taking a two-week vacation after which he is to be assigned to another theatre. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner and two children reside at 604 West Fifth street.

The Three Bears

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., Oct. 30—(P)—An empty gun seemed like so much surplus property to Willis Jackson, but before his hunting experience was ended he converted it into an essential weapon.

Trailing a deer he and his companion had shot, Jackson looked up to see three bears charging at him—and his gun was empty.

B. Kimmey shot one of the bears—a 50 pounder—and it dropped seven feet from Jackson as J. B. Withrow killed a 350-pound cub. While they were taking care of these, Jackson managed to load his rifle and kill the third one—another 350 pound cub.

Wages-Prices Address to be Given Tonight

Expect President
To Make Request
For Compromise

By Harold W. Ward

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—(P)—Authoritative persons said President Truman will propose tonight that industry pay 48 hours wages for 40 hours work without raising prices.

They said he will make this request in a broadcast at 9 p. m. (Central Standard Time) as a compromise with demands by unions that employees be paid for 52 hours while working 40.

The compromise, if accepted by industry and labor, would give workers a 20 per cent increase in pay compared with the 30 per cent the unions ask.

Exceptions to holding the line on prices would be made in cases which would work a hardship on the employer, persons informed of the plan said.

Price rise requests would be handled through the office of price administration and the office of economic stabilization.

If the subject comes before the labor-management conference opening next Monday some enforcement machinery conceivably could be adopted. But industry agreement might be difficult to obtain.

The president will discuss wages and prices with as many of the 18 management and 18 labor delegates as he can meet before the conference.

Today he invited AFL secretary treasurer George Meany to discuss the issues with him, along with James M. Duffy of East Liverpool, Ohio, president of the AFL Pottery, an alternate delegate. Teamster President Daniel J. Tobin, a power in the AFL, expects to see the president next Sunday.

CIO delegates are expected to confer with Mr. Truman on Friday. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, is believed to have been invited on Thursday, although there has been no announcement.

Both labor and management spokesmen have contended that lack of a government policy has blocked collective bargaining.

Cars Redesigned at Katy Shops Here Used in Diamond Jubilee

Three cars redesigned at the Sedalia Missouri—Kansas—Texas shops to simulate 1870 equipment formed part of the train built in replica which entered Parsons, Kas., Monday as the inaugural feature of the diamond jubilee of the line.

Katy officials were on board the historical train which was met in Parsons by hundreds of citizens in pioneer dress.

J. H. Brunkhorst, superintendent of the local shops, who directed the assembling of the replica cars here, was in Parsons for the opening ceremonies, going there from St. Louis.

All Wood Construction

Flat car 211, a No. 10 coach and Caboose No. 1 were sent from here to join the replica of the first train. The cars, of all wood construction, left Sedalia on Freight Train No. 71, about noon last Thursday. Light weight compared to the equipment of today, the little cars were coupled onto the rear of the freight.

The flat car chosen to represent the old type has been obsolete for many years and was used by a repair gang outfit.

The caboose was stripped of its cupola from which the conductor looks out, and "redressed" to resemble its 1870 prototype. All wood, and the smallest standard

Guard Over Vargas at The Palace

Bloodless Coup Ends Rule of
Fifteen Years
For Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 30—(P)—Getulio Vargas, who resigned as president of Brazil last night in response to an army ultimatum, was under military guard at Guanabara Palace today while the new president, Jose Linhares, deliberated on what to do with him.

The swift and apparently bloodless coup ended a 15-year rule for the short and swarthy Vargas. Linhares was inducted into the office before dawn under an army mandate in keeping with the 1937 constitution which provides that the chief justice of the supreme court succeeds any president who dies or is removed.

It was the third governmental upheaval in South America this month. The government of Venezuela, just north of Brazil, was uprooted within the last two weeks. In Argentina, on the southern border of Brazil, Vice President Juan Peron was deposed, but he reemerged with greater power than before.

Elections In December

Linhares, 59, is charged with heading the government of the largest republic in South America until the December 2 elections which Vargas proclaimed last March. Vargas was not a candidate.

"I hope I may fulfill my duties according to the peoples' wishes," Linhares declared immediately after taking the oath at 2:30 a. m.

Picnic for Wolves

LEES-SUMMIT, Mo., Oct. 29—(P)—Some 300 men went on a wolf hunt but only one wolf was killed. Eight others escaped.

The farmers who organized the hunt blamed its lack of success on inexperienced city hunters. "Those city guys all wanted the first shot. They bunched up and kept running ahead of the lines," one farmer commented.

"If wolves can laugh, they'll knock themselves out, now."

Michael J. O'Hearn Fatally Injured When Hit By Car

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 30—(P)—Michael J. O'Hearn, 85, prominent local Democrat and former clerk of the probate court here, was fatally injured last night when struck by a motor car a short distance from his home.

O'Hearn died four hours after the accident at a hospital here. The car, police said, was driven by Mrs. Margaret Dwyer, 75, of Kansas City.

Rubber Tanks On Public Dump

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Oct. 30—(P)—Brand new rubber gasoline and oil tanks—4,400 of them valued at $800,000—go on a public dump pile here today, free for the taking, the Kansas City Times said.

The Times quoted army officers in charge of clearing the government owned North American aviation plant as saying they received an order to "abandon" the tanks, manufactured for use in B-25 bombers.

The officers said, according to the Times, that every effort had been made to sell the tanks, which are in nine sizes and as many shapes. They were advertised to possible users throughout the nation, but no bids were received, the officers said.

Truman Buys Victory Bond

President Truman buys one of the new $200 Roosevelt Memorial Victory bonds from Secretary of the Treasury Fred Vinson as his part in the opening of the $110,000,000 Victory bond drive.

Victory Bond Drive is on

Townships Goals
Are Placed at $110,000 in County

"The Victory Bond drive is underway," Ben Robinson, co-chairman with C. L. Hanley, announced today.

The county E bond quota is $322,400. Mr. Robinson said, and the bond committee will stress the sale of E bonds only. The quota on other types of bonds total $224,700,000 which can be over subscribed without much effort.

Township workers under E. C. Hamilton's leadership are reporting some sizeable sales already.

The township goals are as follows: Lake Creek $2,000; Smithton $14,000; Bowling Green $4,000; Heath Creek $6,000; Flat Creek $5,000; Sedalia $5,000; Cedar $5,000; Longwood $5,000; Washington $4,000; Prairie $4,000; Dresden $4,000; Hughesville $5,000; Houstonia $9,000; Green Ridge $13,000; Elk Fork $4,000; LaMonte $15,000; Blackwater $6,000. Townships total $110,000.

The goal for the City of Sedalia is $12,400.

The bond headquarters are located at the Chamber of Commerce, 112 West Fourth street. Telephone numbers are 890 or 465.

Traffic Deaths On the Increase

CHICAGO, Oct. 30—(P)—The nation's traffic deaths in September—the first full calendar month of unrestricted buying of gasoline—were 2,830, an increase of 40 per cent over the same month last year, the National Safety Council said today.

The council said there is every indication "that the worst is yet to come." Traffic fatalities have gone up steadily since July and the council said the most hazardous part of the year for driving is just ahead—months of darkness, fog, snow, sleet and icy roads.

In July traffic deaths went up 15 per cent over July, 1944; in August the increase was 26 per cent and last month 40 per cent. The council said the death toll for the first nine months of this year was 18,450 against 16,990 for the corresponding period in 1944.

Shoe Rationing Off at Midnight

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—(P)—Shoe rationing will end at midnight, OPA administrator Chester Bowles announced today.

Bowles said shoe production had "taken a big jump since the war ended and that the outlook for a continuing increase is good."

"Approximately 28,000,000 pairs will be made in October, as against 20,000,000 pairs in August," Bowles said. "Prospects are that output for November and December will reach 29 to 30 million pairs a month—equal to normal consumer demand before the war."

In addition to shoes, the termination order also applies to leather-soled house slippers. Shoe rationing has been in effect since Feb. 8, 1943.

Keele to Trial For Robbery

F. P. Norris Was Shot in Holdup on Last March 26

The trial of Lawrence Keele, U. S. Navy, charged with first degree robbery in connection with the holdup-shooting of Forrest P. Norris at the latter's hamburger stand, Third street and Engineer avenue, March 26, is being held today in circuit court.

The following is the jury which is hearing the evidence in the case: Virgil Hedgecock, L. R. Furnell, J. R. Frisbie, John Purchase, W. B. Rife, H. W. Burris, Lester Holdner, Harry Yeager, E. F. Uffman and Howard Hall.

Keele was tried in the June term of court and the trial resulted in a hung jury.

Keele is alleged with Robert Dooley, under a ten-year sentence on first degree robbery in connection with the hold-up-shooting, at the time Dooley went into the hamburger place and held up Doyle Ward who was frying hamburgers and then shot Mr. Norris.

F. P. Norris To Stand

Mr. Norris this morning testified regarding the shooting and holdup, saying he was in a back bedroom and when he started to the front of the place saw the young man, later identified as Dooley, standing by the counter holding up Ward. He said he called to the boy and he in turn turned around and said something, then fired a revolver at him, the bullet striking Norris in the abdomen. Mr. Norris told of returning to his bedroom, obtaining a pistol, and then stood by an ice box awaiting the boy to get out of line of customers in the place and as he started out the door, stepped out and shot at Dooley. Dooley was wounded in the back, but recovered.

Dooley was taken to Alcoa Farms, in June, but escaped the institution about a month ago. Dooley is still at large.

Transports Bring In 18,500 Troops

By the Associated Press

More than 8,400 servicemen are due to arrive at three east coast ports from Europe today aboard eight troop-carrying transports.

At San Francisco and Seattle, Wash., 11 other vessels, carrying approximately 10,100 troops, are scheduled to dock.

Four ships with more than 3,300 troops are scheduled to arrive at New York, two with approximately 2,500 at Boston and two others, carrying some 2,500 at Newport News, Va.

The Weather

Clear to partly cloudy this afternoon, tonight and Wednesday; continued mild this afternoon; slightly warmer northwest and extreme north tonight; low temperatures 50-55; little change in temperature Wednesday.

To Confer on Atomic Bomb Next Month

Discussions by Three Powers to Begin Then

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—(P)—Three-power discussions over the future of atomic energy will begin here about November 11 between President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee of Britain and Canada's MacKenzie King.

The announcement of the forthcoming talks, released in Washington and London simultaneously today, made no mention of Russian participation. The conference is in line with President Truman's previous statements that the three-power parley would come ahead of any meeting with other Allies on atomic energy.

Canada, Great Britain and the United States share the secret of the development of the atomic bomb, but United States plants alone have produced it.

Attlee To Visit President

"Prime Minister Attlee will visit the president in Washington early next month to discuss with him and Prime Minister MacKenzie King of Canada problems to which the discovery of atomic energy has given rise," the White House said.

"The prime minister is expected to arrive in Washington so that the discussions can begin about November 11."

Attlee was in the United States last April as a member of the British delegation to the United Nations Postwar Security Conference at San Francisco.

He and President Truman also got together at the last "Big (Please Turn To Page 4 Col. 4)

Is Slain After Wounding Two

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 30—(P)—A man armed with a revolver wounded two patrolmen and was slain by a fusillade fired by police about 1 a. m. today on the second floor of a rooming house here.

The gun battle occurred shortly after police headquarters here received a tip that a man, wanted in New York on a charge of grand larceny was living at the house.

Shortly before the shooting a man appeared at police headquarters and announced he knew where a fugitive was hiding. Police said he displayed a clipping from a detective magazine which stated that Eugene M. O'Donnell, 44, was sought by New York police.

Police went to the rooming house and when they got no response to their knock, they broke the door in. They reported that the man inside emerged firing a revolver.

The wounded men were Ralph Parr, 41, of the Kansas City Motor Theft Bureau, and Eugene Blades, 21, Motor Theft Bureau clerk.

War Department Is For Single Secretary Of Armed Forces

Recognition is Given Venezuela

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—(P)—The United States today recognized the revolutionary government of Venezuela after consultations with other American governments.

The state department issued this statement:

"The secretary of state, James F. Byrnes announced this afternoon that the government of the United States has extended full recognition to the government of Venezuela which is now organized under Senor Romulo Betancourt."

"The American ambassador in Caracas is informing the new minister for foreign affairs of Venezuela of this action."

"Before making its decision to recognize the new government of Venezuela the government of the United States of America has exchanged views and consulted with the governments of the other American republics."

New Cars Will Not Be On Ration List

Agencies Say
Better Used Autos
Will Be Available

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—(P)—New automobiles soon to go on sale will not be rationed, the government announced Monday.

The OPA and the War Production Board, in a joint statement, said that with nearly 24,000,000 cars now on the road, and new production under way, "there is no longer danger of a general breakdown of the automotive transportation system."

The agencies added that as new production picks up, "newer and better used cars will also become increasingly available."

"Naturally some individuals will be inconvenienced by their inability to buy new cars immediately," said OPA Administrator Chester Bowles. "We ask, however, that dealers everywhere give special consideration to unusual hardship cases."

Stockpile Was Released

No automobiles have been rationed since last July when the remainder of the general stockpile of prewar cars was released for general sale.

Whether to ration the new cars due soon had been under consideration several months.

The decision against rationing means that, except for any sales priority set up voluntarily by dealers, new cars will be sold on a first-come-first-served basis.

At the beginning of 1942, when automobile production was cut off, OPA began the rationing of cars out of frozen stocks in the hands of dealers and manufacturers. These cars were reserved for essential needs related to War Production or to public health and safety.

Couldn't Tell Then

At that time, the agencies said today, "it was impossible to foresee how long automobiles would be out of production, and careful rationing was essential to avoid the risk of a breakdown in the transportation system."

OPA said that all records and certificates used in the car rationing program and now held by the trade or the public "are valuable and may be disposed of."

Post Graduate Course for Warfare of the Future

By Elizabeth Toomey

FT. LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Oct. 30—(P)—The United States army already is busy training its generals for 10 to 20 years hence. If there is another war, they will be the army's leaders.

Students of the army's new war college here are the cream of the junior officers who developed during the war just past; all under 40 years of age, with a superior combat record and holding the rank of lieutenant colonel or higher. Forty-two colonels and six lieutenant colonels were hand-picked for the first "trial run" command and general staff school.

It is the only one of its kind in the nation and, if successful, the plan is expected to replace the army war college at Washington, which was disbanded in 1940.

"If we are successful in getting the right students for this course, its graduates will be the generals of 1955—perhaps the generals of the next war, if there is one," observed Maj. Gen. Karl Truesdell, commandant of the command and general staff school.

Director of the top flight army class is 46-year-old Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, former commanding general of the 44th infantry division.

Throughout five months of intensive training, the men plot warfare and study military procedure. The class, made up of 35 per cent from the air force, 40 per cent ground forces, and 25 per cent service personnel, is divided into small working committees under a plan of self instruction.

"Not Push Button Battle"

The outline of the course shows clearly that these men are planning a war based on large scale troop movements and keyposts for infantry and artillery—not a push button battle with whole cities devastated by a single blow. One group may be assigned to

Plan Presented
Senate Military Committee by Lt. Gen. Collins

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—(P)—The War Department proposed to Congress today that the army, navy and air forces be placed under a single civilian "Secretary of the Armed Forces."

Under the department head, who would be advised by military chiefs of staffs and a secretariat of civilian assistants, the army proposed this organization of the services:

"The air force should include all land-based combat aircraft except those allotted to the army and navy for reconnaissance, spotting of gunfire, command and messenger service. The air should retain its own service forces."

"The army should include all combat ground forces other than the marine corps and would have its own service forces."

"The navy would include the United States fleet with its air arm, the marine corps and its service forces."

Each component apparently would be directed by a military rather than a civilian head, as at present.

Lt. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, the chief of staff of army ground forces and a veteran of European campaigning, presented the plan to the senate military committee for the war department.

Plan to Integrate

He asserted the army was not proposing to "merge" the services, but to "integrate" them with maximum autonomy for each.

Collins' statement was the first detailed public discussion of the plan to establish at least three and possibly four assistant secretariats.

A civilian assistant secretary should be provided "to coordinate the military program of scientific research" with the activities of any national civilian research agency set up later and with the great civilian laboratories of the country, he said.

Each of the three armed forces, however, would have its own research group to work out its own special problems. The assistant secretary would coordinate the work of these units with outside agencies to prevent "wasteful duplication of effort."

The army proposed an assistant secretary for procurement and industrial mobilization. Working with that office, but directly under the chief of staff of the armed forces would be another unit, the director of common supply and hospitalization. That officer, said Collins, should be responsible for procuring items needed commonly by all services, such as food and blankets.

Collins' statement also suggested a civilian assistant secretary to supervise legislative matters and public information. The army's bureau of public relations has been directed by military personnel of general officer rank during times of war.

"Need for Coordination"

The fourth department might handle military intelligence. Collins said "there can be no question" about the need for coordination. He commented that "there probably should be some central intelligence agency for the government as a whole, but this is a problem beyond the score of the department of armed forces itself."

Collins said the joint chiefs of staff—a wartime agency composed of the high commands of the army, navy, air forces and the White House military chief of staff—should be continued. But his recommendation was that it have recommending authority only on military policy, strategy and budget requirements.

Preparations of an

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 — The back-stage battle of the scientists over the atom bomb still rages. The scientists who worked on the bomb have pleaded with Maj. Gen. Leslie Groves and Dr. Vannevar Bush to revise the May-Johnson bill for control of atomic energy, but without success.

American science will suffer a serious blow, they claim, and will lose future world leadership, if it is placed under army regulation. Furthermore, scientists will be unwilling to extend themselves in order to spur an arms race which can only end in world-wide disaster, the young atom scientists argue. The pending bill, they are convinced, can only end in an arms race.

One of the leading scientists on the project — Dr. Enrico Fermi — has recalled to General Groves that German scientists led the world on the development of atomic energy until ten years ago. At that time the Nazis moved in on science, with the result that German research lagged behind and we were able to forge ahead. The present bill, the scientists claim, calls for even greater control than that imposed by the Nazis.

Senate Elder Statesmen

Although many comparative youngsters are taking senate seats these days, there are still a dozen senators well over 70 years old. Some of these oldsters, like aristocratic Theodore Green of Rhode Island, sincere Jim Murray of Montana and sanctimonious Josiah Bailey of North Carolina, are as vigorous and active as any of the youngsters. Some of the others, however, are not.

Much-loved Carter Glass of Virginia has not been seen in the senate in over two years. Another octogenarian, popular Arthur Capper of Kansas, has the gleam of youth in his eye and is regularly at his office. But he misses a great many committee meetings.

That is why Senator Bob Taft, Ohio Republican, was so triumphant as he escorted Capper to the meeting of the senate banking and currency committee at which the final vote was taken on the full employment bill. Taft's attempt to defeat the bill in committee finally lost out, but in Capper he had one more vote for his cause.

Chairman Bob Wagner of New York, himself a youngster of only 68 years, was stumped at Taft's parade by him with Capper.

"I've got Capper here," Taft said gaily. "Now let's see you get Glass."

Note — Here are the ages of the elder statesmen of the senate: Bankhead of Alabama, 73; George of Georgia, 67; Thomas of Idaho, 71; Willis of Indiana, 70; Capper of Kansas, 80; Reed of Kansas, 74; Barkley of Kentucky, 68; White of Maine, 68; Walsh of Massachusetts, 73; Bilbo of Mississippi, 68; Murray of Montana, 69; McCarran of Nevada, 69; Bailey of North Carolina, 72; Moore of Oklahoma, 74; Green of Rhode Island, 78; Austin of Vermont, 68; McKellar of Tennessee, 76; Connally of Texas, 68; Glass of Virginia, 87.

Treasury Watch-dogs

They received almost no publicity for their work, but Representatives Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Herbert Bonner of North Carolina this month saved the U. S. treasury between $250,000,000 and $300,000,000. And they are ready to keep up their fight in order to make certain

The first snow of the season fell in Sedalia between 9 and 10 o'clock last night. The flakes were large but not numerous, melting almost as fast as they reached the earth.

Mrs. Teresa Avansino has bought as an investment the residence property at 409 West Fourth street, it being secured from J. Sullivan, a resident of Indiana.

the senate doesn't give away the money they have saved.

By a series of three amendments to the ship sale bill, the two congressmen convinced their confused colleagues — most of whom were completely unaware of what the bill contained — to write in safeguards which will prevent oil companies and U. S. shipping lines from making additional millions from the sale of the U. S. merchant fleet.

From $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 was saved by the Jackson amendment alone. It provides that the government sell its oil tankers at 100 per cent of cost — on the basis of pre-war construction costs — less yearly depreciation. The bill originally called for a price of 75 per cent of the pre-war cost — which would have meant the sale of hundreds of tankers to big oil companies at only about half what they cost to build during the expensive war years.

A second Jackson amendment is expected to save about $50,000,000 for the government. It affects ships sold during the war to private firms with a provision for price adjustment after the war. The Jackson amendment prevents a shipper from having his price adjusted downward from, for instance, $2,000,000 to $1,500,000 unless he returns to the government the $600,000 he received as rental from the government since he bought the boat. He is, however, permitted a 3 1/2 per cent return on the actual cash he had laid out.

About $100,000,000 was saved by North Carolina's Bonner by means of an amendment limiting the trade-in allowance the government may give on an old vessel turned in as part payment for a newer ship. The government is taking many old hulls from the shippers and scrapping them. Without the Bonner amendment, ships worth only five dollars a ton might be accepted by the government on a trade-in at prices as high as $50 a ton. The amendment limits the trade-in allowance to 10 per cent of the original cost of the ship.

These three amendments caught the shippers unaware. They had been confident that the ship sale bill would zoom through the house just the way they wanted it. But their plans were changed by the spunky young ex-GI from Everett, Wash., and the former secretary to Congressmen Lind-

AFTER the circus tour I could expect peace for a while. I had been able to save some money to clear up debts, and Baud's bookings for me worked out well. Mother wrote seldom but I knew from theatrical news that the Swedish opera, if not a complete flop, was giving a very good imitation of one throughout the United States. I was prepared for the worst, which eventually came to my house in the form of a blonde singer, who had fought with the rest of the company and returned to Paris in high dudgeon. What on earth the woman wanted with me, I never found out, but she arrived one Saturday evening between shows. I had returned to the apartment for a short rest before the evening performance, and sent word to her by Marie that I was dressing to go to work, begging her to excuse me and come back some other time. She was so insistent about saying "just two words," that I began to think she might have a message from mother and so let her in. Not having even the courtesy to wait till I received her in the salon, she barged straight into my bedroom and let loose a torrent of conversation about the company and her personal troubles.

When she had plumped her entire 200 pounds down on the side of my bed with a crash that shook the room, I had not noticed that under the covert, beneath her mountain of flesh, was my poor little snake Dandy. Suddenly I saw his black head and about a foot of him strike at her as he writhed beneath her weight. I screamed at her to get up, and as she rose, Dandy was hanging on the back of her black seal coat, hooked into the fur by his two front fangs.

A LOCAL LADY SPIT UP ACID LIQUIDS FOR HOURS AFTER EATING

For hours after every meal, a Sedalia lady used to spit up a strong, acidulous liquid mixed with pieces of half digested food. She says it was awful. At times she would nearly strangle. She had stomach bloat, daily headaches and constant irregular bowel action. Today, this lady eats her meals and enjoys them. And she says the change is due to taking ERB-HELP. No gas, bloat or spitting up after eating. She is also free of headaches now, and bowels are regular, thanks to this remarkable New Compound. ERB-HELP contains 12 great herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get ERB-HELP. Sold by all drug stores here in Sedalia.—Adv.

I screamed and yelled and threw myself about the room, smashing Dandy against the bed-room furniture—even trying to climb out of the window in her terror. Finally, I got him off her and could see his body was limp—that he could not coil. I took him into the bathroom, putting him on the smooth tile floor, where he dragged himself under the bathtub to his favorite hiding place, a little crack in the woodwork that he had found. There he lay for three days until he died.

SHORTLY after this tragic happening, I went out to supper with my old friend Irene Sam-pallo from Rio, who was a great lover of animals and had all sorts of rare ones on his estancia in the country. I told him about Dandy and how sad it had made me, so he promised to cable his brother to send me another snake from their estate.

A month later, I received a telephone call from the office of the Chef du Gare of the Gare du Nord, saying that there was a crate containing a live snake waiting for me on the platform and that I must be good enough to come immediately and remove it. I got a taxi whose chauffeur I knew—a nice Breton boy called Marcel, who owned a big closed cab and often drove me to the theater. Away we went to collect the snake—and we didn't have much trouble finding it, for there, in the middle of a group of excited jabbering porters and officials, was a large crate covered with labels and instructions about its fragile contents.

It was broken on one side, and about two feet of torpid reptile was hanging out.

A representative of the express company, who refused to move the snake, was adding to the confusion by waving a sheaf of documents in my face and breathing heavily through his nose, which was red and had a drop on the end of it. It was December and bitterly cold, so all I wanted to do was get the poor snake into some kind of shelter before it froze to death. Finally I persuaded one of the more daring spirits in the group of porters to help Marcel get the crate on a hand truck and out to the taxi.

We drove to the back entrance of the garden, for I knew the concierge would not be easy to deal with once he found out what the crate contained.

Finally, we got everything safely into the house and into a still unfurnished spare room. Marcel, who by this time was as excited as I, helped me open the crate. We beheld one of the finest diamond-backed boa constrictors I have ever seen—a splendid specimen, measuring about five feet from tip to tail and far too big for an apartment.

I named him Botafogo.

MOTHER arrived for Christmas and stayed about a month. She told me all about the misfortunes of the Swedish opera, which had got off to a bad start with the American public. The critics did not even have the kindness to pan the company; they did something much worse, which was to ignore it completely. However, the company had somewhat revived its drooping spirits, and the directors announced they were going ahead in England. Mother was very enthusiastic about the operas and felt that if she sang in several of those she personally liked, she intended leaving for Scandinavia in February, and from there she would go to London in the spring.

The fact that father had not been able to afford a trip over for Christmas and that mother was still obliged to work tormented me.

I planned to accept a contract at the Opera Comique for the month of February and asked Baud to obtain the best salary he could for me.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Pulse is the Heart's Speedometer

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

The large arteries attached to the heart, which are always filled with blood, receive an additional two ounces with each heart beat. As the vessel walls are elastic, this causes a distension which passes over the arteries like a wave until it is felt in the wrist as the pulse.

Dr. O'Brien

Chief interest in the pulse is in its rate, rhythm and quality. The normal pulse varies from 40 to 100 beats per minute (average 60 to 80). Children tend to have a more rapid pulse than adults.

An extremely slow pulse (around 40 per minute) may be normal. Highly trained athletes often have a slow pulse as their powerful hearts and strong muscles send their blood around the circuit more efficiently than average. A slow pulse also may be caused by typhoid fever or some forms of heart disease.

Exertion Quickens Rate

Rapid pulse rates result from exertion, excitement, hemorrhage, shock, oxygen lack (as in mountain climbers), increased metabolism, fever, diseases of the heart and other conditions. Nervous persons who are always feeling their pulse may increase its rate from anxiety.

Irregularity in the pulse is common and may be caused by the effect of breathing. In young persons especially, the heart speeds up during inspiration and slows down during expiration, and there also is a slow waxing and waning of the rate about every two or three minutes. This irregularity is called sinus arrhythmia, and should not be confused with heart disease.

Occasionally an extra beat will be felt at the wrist. This will be followed by a pause and then the beats will come through with regularity. This is caused by an extra contraction which developed in another portion of the heart. All hearts skip a beat at times, and certain hearts seem to develop this difficulty more easily than others. Catching cold, smoking too much, or not getting enough rest may cause it.

Half-Minute Count

Pulse is usually counted by physicians and nurses for one-half minute while the temperature is being taken. If there is uncertainty as to the count another half minute observation is made. Home nurses should also count the respiration at the same time, and when you report the patient's condition to your physician, the record of pulse, temperature and respiration should be given.

Quality of the pulse varies from soft to hard. From time immemorial physicians have gained an idea on the heart's condition by feeling the pulse, but with development of the blood pressure apparatus, pressures are no longer estimated at the wrist. Many varieties of pulse are so distinctive that physicians can recognize the heart difficulty which is causing them, but it is not wise for the layman to make a diagnosis based on feeling his own pulse.

Says Millions of People Only Half Live

A man now in Los Angeles, but formerly a world-renowned traveler and geographer, honored by leading geographical societies, reveals the story of a remarkable method that often leads to almost unbelievable improvement in power of mind, achievement of brilliant business and professional success and new happiness. Many report improvement in health. Others tell of increasing bodily strength, magnetic personality, courage and poise.

This man tells how he found these strange methods in far-off and mysterious Tibet, often called the land of miracles by the few travelers permitted to visit it. He discloses how he learned rare wisdom and long hidden practices, closely guarded for three thousand years by the sages, which enabled many to perform amazing feats. He maintains that these immense powers are latent in all of us, and that methods for using them are now simple and plied so that they can be used by almost any person with ordinary intelligence.

He maintains that man, instead of being limited by a one-man power mind, has within him the mind-power of a thousand men or more as well as the energy-power of the universe which can be used in his daily affairs. He states that this sleeping giant of mind-power, when awakened, can make man capable of surprising accomplishments, from the prolonging of youth, to success in many fields. He claims that millions of people are only half alive, that the drive which gives vitality and strength to their efforts, and which makes life a joy and a triumph, is too often missing. He offers to send his amazing 9,000 word treatise—which reveals many startling results—to readers of this paper free of cost or obligation. For your free copy, address the Institute of Mental Physics, 213 South Hobart Blvd., Dept. T-663, Los Angeles 4, Calif. Readers are urged to write promptly because this offer may be withdrawn at any time.

"The Cooperative Trend of the Times" was the subject chosen by Miss Melva Rae Gingerich, guest speaker at the Sorosis club Monday afternoon.

Miss Gingerich is a graduate of Iowa university and for the past several years has been at Missouri Valley college, Marshall, Mo., where she is dean of women. She is a fluent speaker and well informed on the subject of government.

Miss Gingerich began her talk by reading a poem, "These Are Americans," by Stephen Vincent Benet. This poem, the speaker said, best portrayed the American people. People who liked to travel, people who would start out and go from one part of the country to the other, people who constantly strive to build and to do bigger and better things than any other nation. People who too quickly forget.

When we list the causes of the failure of the League of Nations, Miss Gingerich said, there is the failure of the United States to cooperate. The failure of ninety-six senators, which broke the heart of an idealist. Among the great nations that co-operated in the winning of the peace there is turmoil now that the peace has been won.

We who live in this hurried, busy life, have we forgotten so soon that those who fought, fought to come home to peace? Peace which can come only from cooperation — working for the common good of all.

Throughout the history of America, the speaker said, we have tried for cooperation. It was Chief Justice John Marshall who made the law that the supreme court could make acts of congress unconstitutional. Such men as Chief Justice Marshall and Alexander Hamilton, who sat on the supreme court bench molded great men to form the strong central government which we now have.

If the right man is chosen as the chief justice on the world court there will be peace.

The year of 1945 has been a year of cooperation. There was the Mexican conference at which the people of all of the Americas except one cooperated. There was the San Francisco conference which was an open charter with fifty nations participating. The League of Nations was a closed charter. Yet people criticized the San Francisco charter because it lacked the wording Thomas Jefferson gave to the constitution of the United States. But Thomas Jefferson wrote the constitution in only one language, the speaker pointed out. The San Francisco charter had to be in many languages. It was a great success.

Japan must have economic security. Germany must have economic security. But first the nations of Europe must be rebuilt. We may have to give up a little of our own in order that this might be done. Isolation from other nations is now impossible. The future of America depends on the future of other nations. We must cooperate. All people of the world must know the right of life, liberty and pursuit of happiness.

We must follow the Christian way of life, the speaker concluded, of doing unto others as we would have others do unto us. There must be the freedom of the press in all countries for only when people know the facts about each other will peace be maintained.

Miss Gingerich was introduced by Miss Helen Bowers, chairman of the Current Topics department.

Mrs. Austin Hurley, president, presided.

Miss Etta Hurley, chairman of the Civic committee, announced that the speaker next Monday would be Col. Hugh Waggoner of the State Highway Patrol of Jefferson City.

A luncheon in honor of Miss Gingerich preceded the meeting.

A party was given Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Shelby, 1101 East Sixth street, in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. J. B. McCarthy, by members of the Willing Tilers class of the Epworth Methodist church, of which she is teacher.

The meeting opened with devotional and was followed by a business meeting presided over by Mrs. W. G. Martin, president of the class.

Mrs. Martha Grishkat then presented the following program: Song fest with all singing; two piano solos by Joann Harrell; reading by Mrs. Dick Keenen; vocal duet, Winnie Graham and Pauline Short; two piano solos, Beverly Engholm; duet by Mrs. Virgil Tucker and Mrs. R. H. Robb with Mrs. Paul Berthouex at the piano.

Mrs. Martin then read a short poem in honor of Mrs. McCarthy and Mrs. W. A. Green paid tribute to Mrs. McCarthy from the entire church with a talk entitled: "Faithfulness."

After Mrs. McCarthy had been presented with gifts from the members of the class she was invited into the dining room where refreshments were served.

The lace covered dining table was beautiful with white taper candles in crystal candelabra at either end. In the middle of the table was a large mirror with lighted white candles intertwined with asparagus fern. In the center was a tall crystal cake stand on which was large decorated birthday cake made and decorated by Mrs. Virgil Tucker. This was later presented to Mrs. McCarthy as was a large birthday cake made by Mrs. A. L. Pringle. Seated with Mrs. McCarthy at the table were her sister, Mrs. James Keever, and other special guests. The Shelby home was decorated throughout with autumn flowers.

William Mosier was honored with a dinner Wednesday evening given by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Mosier, RFD 1, Sedalia, and attended by relatives. Mosier has returned to Sedalia after receiving at Jefferson Barracks his honorable discharge from the army, with which he served as corporal.

Entering service October 15, 1941, he spent 38 months overseas in the Hawaiian islands, Leyte, Iwo Jima and Okinawa and has received the Good Conduct medal, Asiatic-Pacific theater ribbon with three battle stars and the Philippine Liberation ribbon.

Mrs. J. L. Johnson was hostess to a meeting of the Thursday club Thursday afternoon at her home in La Monte.

Mrs. Dorrance presided over the business session, Mrs. J. L. Johnson gave the Scripture reading and roll call was answered with safety hints. A feature of the meeting was a demonstration of sewing machine attachments by Mrs. Croil.

A shower was given Mrs. Raymond Wasson.

Refreshments were served. Visitors were: Mrs. R. A. Embree, Mrs. Aubrey Moore, Mrs. Court Penson and Mrs. Willard Alltop.

The November meeting will be at the home of Mrs. George Lewis.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Thompson, well known residents of the LaMonte community, were pleasantly surprised by neighbors and friends who gathered at their home Sunday, October 28th, for a farewell dinner to which all contributed.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson are moving to Sedalia in the near future and will reside at 515 West Third street.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Thompson, their daughters Mrs. Gordon Heiniger of Sedalia and Mrs. Orville Whittle and children Carolyn Sue and Bill of Kansas City; John L. Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. James Connor and son Jack, Mr. and Mrs. William Sullivan, Mrs. Albert Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Painter, Mr. and Mrs. John Earl Farris and daughter Mary Elizabeth, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Brim, Mrs. A. B. Cook and children Dorothy and Jim Bob, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Simon, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Simon and daughter Mary, Mrs. Louis Bickel, August Simon, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Swearingen and children Doris, Carl and Charles, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Buckley and son Joe, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schenks of LaMonte; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Thompson and Miss Alma Wise of Sedalia; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ross and daughter Marjorie of Green Ridge.

Girl Scouting Activities Wide

Girl Scouts of Sedalia join with more than a million girls and women throughout the United States in putting first on their lists of activities for 1945-46 projects that will help them gain more knowledge and understanding of other people, according to unique national and local plans of work just released by the Girl Scout office here. The plans were made only after all members of the organization had been given an opportunity to say what they wanted to do in the coming year in order to become better citizens. So far as is known, this is the first time that any such national youth poll has been taken.

Replies from here and from other communities indicated a desire for frequent national and international gatherings, so that girls might get acquainted with people of different races, religions, and national backgrounds. Those who could not attend such get-togethers wanted to correspond with girls in other countries and in other parts of the United States. They plan to dramatize their knowledge in international festivals and plays.

Ranking in importance with world friendship was community understanding. Many troops felt that in addition to traditional Girl Scout service activities, they wanted to learn more about the history of their town, the people that had helped to build it, and its current needs and problems.

Charges of making over-ceiling prices on sales of lumber of which there are four instances against the Looney-Bloess Lumber Co., of Sedalia; seven instances against Carl S. Wimer and H. A. Wimer, partners in the LaMonte Lumber Co., LaMonte, Mo., and three instances against H. A. Wimer and Florence Wimer, partners in the H. A. Judgment for $50 in each violation or $200, plus injunction enjoining against future over-ceiling sales, is asked in the Looney-Bloess case, which is filed in federal court at Jefferson City.

In the H. A. and Florence Wimer case, filed in the federal court in Kansas City over ceiling sales of lumber and failure to show required information on invoices is claimed. Judgment of $50 in each instance is sought, or $150 and an order prayed for directing proper invoicing and from selling at over-ceiling prices in the future.

Also in the federal court, on over-ceiling sales of lumber in seven instances, failure to show required information on invoices, in the case against Carl S. and H. A. Says Falzone Asked $1,500 Be Raised

Mrs. MacCallum First Witness in Senate Trial

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 30.—(P)—Mrs. Lillian V. MacCallum of St. Louis told the Missouri senate today Sen. Joseph A. Falzone had asked her to raise $1,500 to get a cosmetology bill through the state legislature.

"He said the senators from the small towns—the sticks he called it—he said this was their only means of making a living and they had to be paid every time they voted for a bill," Mrs. MacCallum testified.

Formerly director of the cosmetology division of the State Board of Health, Mrs. MacCallum was the first witness called by senate counsel in an unprecedented trial of Falzone on a charge that he solicited a $1,500 payment for his efforts on behalf of the bill.

She sat on a raised witness stand, half facing senators who were listening intently in their unaccustomed role of jurors. A public address system amplified her carefully chosen words for the senate and the half filled galleries.

Watches The Witness

Falzone, Clayton Republican and former chairman of the senate public health committee, watched Mrs. MacCallum as she talked and occasionally bent forward to confer with his attorneys. He was impassive. If two-thirds of the 34 senators vote to sustain the charges, he will be expelled.

Mark D. Eagleton, president of the St. Louis board of police commissioners and one of the senate's specially employed attorneys, questioned Mrs. MacCallum. He guided her slowly through the story of how she first met Falzone last February, then moved to the night of February 19 when she recalled a conference with the senator in the lobby of a Jefferson City hotel where he allegedly outlined his demand.

"Said It Would Cost Money"

While they sat together at the back of the lobby, "Mr. Falzone said that it would cost the hair dressers money to get this bill through," Mrs. MacCallum related.

"x x x he said the title would have to be more descriptive. He said he would have to employ a man in the house."

"And he said there would be entertainment and other expenses added to it, x x x"

"He said he would give me $300 for my share, x x x I told him I wasn't interested."

Mrs. MacCallum "told him I thought it was an awful lot of money" but Falzone allegedly replied:

"It may even run into more than that. Who knows—by the time I hand out some here and hand out some there."

When she continued to protest, she said Falzone suggested the professional organizations interested in the cosmetology bill each could contribute $400 or $500 making the cost to individual members only 10 or 15 cents a person.

Cards As Exhibits

At the end of their talk, she said she asked Falzone to write down notations on work that would have to be done in connection with the legislation. On two of his calling cards he allegedly wrote the details.

The two cards Mrs. MacCallum identified as having been given to her by Falzone have been described by senate attorneys as key exhibits in their case.

Before the senate recessed for lunch, a page took the two bits of evidence around to individual senators for their examination.

Attorney Outlines Case

An attorney told the Missouri Senate he would prove that Senator Joseph A. Falzone, St. Louis county Republican, offered to get a cosmetology bill through the legislature for $1,500.

The attorney was W. Edwin Moser of St. Louis, one of the senate's counsel in an unprecedented action that put the senate in the role of a jury trying a fellow member. If the charge is sustained by a two-thirds vote, Falzone will be expelled from membership.

As the trial started, Falzone at a table in front of his colleagues with his own attorneys. Counsel for the senate, prosecuting the case according to criminal court rules, were ranged opposite him at the other table.

Galleries Partly Filled

Lt. Gov. Walter N. Davis, a former state supreme court commissioner, called the senate to order a few minutes after 2 p. m. with galleries only partly filled. News photographers had been permitted to take pictures during a recess, but were barred after the hearing started.

All but five of the 34 senators were in their seats.

In general, Moser said in his opening statement, senate counsel would follow the outlines of testimony developed by a special investigating committee which drew the charges against Falzone.

The principal witness, he explained, will be Mrs. Lillian V. MacCallum of St. Louis, former head of the cosmetology division in the state board of health. Moser said she would testify that Falzone asked her to raise $1,500 to gain the bill's passage.

Senate Recesses

Falzone's attorneys reserved their opening statement until completion of the senate case and the senate recessed for the night without hearing any witnesses.

Overnight, by senate directive, an attempt will be made to install a public address system so testimony may be heard throughout the chamber. The installation was ordered after the senate first rejected such a plan, suggested by Edward J. Hogan, Jr., (D) of St. Louis, then rescinded the action and approved it.

In other preliminary jockeying, Waldo Edwards of Macon and Charles E. Rendlen of Hannibal, Falzone's attorneys, obtained permission to use the special investigating committee's transcript of Mrs. Florence Many's testimony instead of putting her on the stand. They said she was ill in St. Louis and was to be taken to a hospital today.

Reserves Ruling

Mark D. Eagleton of St. Louis, co-counsel for the senate with Moser, commented "we feel we're very much the loser" by inability to have Mrs. Many on the stand for cross examination. He asked permission to call witnesses in rebuttal to Mrs. Many's testimony, but Lieutenant Governor Davis reserved his ruling on that point.

Davis said he was "inclined to think" such rebuttal testimony would be admissible.

The special investigating committee identified Mrs. Many, a health department inspector, as the University City woman who introduced Mrs. MacCallum to Senator Falzone here last February.

As Moser started his opening statement for the precedent shattering trial, he turned and faced the senators who sat quietly at their usual desks, listening intently. Under special rules adopted for the proceeding, senators may not ask direct questions but may relay written queries through the attorneys.

the subjects of a fight when the legislation comes before the House, probably tomorrow.

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes informed the committee in a letter that a less restrictive free press amendment might be satisfactory but warned against "a process which may lead to the imposition of restrictive and undesirable conditions on UNRRA's operations by other countries."

An amendment which Byrnes said would not impose "impossible administrative burdens or responsibilities inappropriate to an international organization" would have provided "that the press of such country (receiving the aid) will be permitted to publish all statements, relating to the operations of the administration, in such country, made by the administrative head of the administration's mission in such country."

Bright Picture For Southwest

Chairman Morfa of Katy Visions Good Prospects

PARSONS, Kas., Oct. 30.—(P)—Prospects for industrial growth and development of the southwest is brighter at this time than for any other section of the country. Raymond J. Morfa, chairman of the board of the Katy railroad, declared last night.

"The war focused attention on the vast resources and the many advantages readily available in the southwest and the industrial eyes are truly on this land of opportunity," he said at a civic banquet.

Morfa's address concluded opening day of a week-long celebration of the 75th anniversary of the founding of the railroad.

Sees No Obstacles

"I can see no obstacle in the path of industrial decentralization of our crowded eastern areas and the migration of industry, population and wealth to our territory," Morfa continued.

The board chairman, one of nearly 40 officials of the railroad here for the event, said the Katy planned further improvement of its passenger service and schedules and increased and expedited freight movements.

Arrival Monday morning of a replica of the first Katy train to reach Parsons in 1870 signalled the start of the celebration. A crowd estimated at more than 15,000 gathered at the station to greet the train, complete with diamond-shaped smokestack, cowcatcher and other features of early-day locomotives.

Officers On Train

On the train were Raymond J. Morfa, chairman of the board of the railroad; Donald V. Fraser, president; H. M. Warren, vice president and general manager, and a group of Parsons residents dressed in old-time costumes.

The celebration will come to a close Saturday with a parade through Parsons streets.

Hacked an Aged Priest to Pieces

MANILA, Oct. 30.—(P)—How Japanese bayoneted an aged Manila priest while he was receiving absolution and hacked to pieces a woman trying to defend a child was described today at the trial of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita on war crime charges.

Father Francis Joseph Cosgrave, white-robed Irish Redemptionist priest, told the military commission trying Japan's former chief of occupation forces in the Philippines that he was in the act of giving absolution to an aged fellow priest, when a Japanese bayonet, thrust under his upraised hand, killed the dying man.

Father Cosgrave also told how a saber-swinging Japanese officer hacked to death Mrs. Vasquez Prada, Manila society woman as she sought to defend a small boy after the Japanese had killed her husband and three older sons.

These were but two out of scores of brutal incidents that took place at the De La Salle college last February during the killing of 40 men, women and children, including Brother Xavier, the college head.

Pretty Rosario Carlos, who lost four members of her family in the massacre, said she was shot in the breast by a Japanese soldier who then attempted to rape her as she lay wounded.

Other witnesses told of the massacre of perhaps 50 men and boys, including paralyzed supreme court justice Anacleto Diaz and his two sons, by soldiers who lined them up and fired machine guns point blank into rows of civilians and finished off the job with crude spears and bayonets.

Two Divorce Actions In Circuit Court

Two divorce petitions have been filed in circuit court. Dora Lee Cozard from Cecil Raymond Cozard and Emery Friend against Evelyn Margaret Friend.

In the Cozard petition general indignities were alleged. The couple was married April 1, 1944 and separated June 29, 1945. One child was born to this union.

Crawford and Harlan represent the plaintiff.

General indignities were alleged in the Friend petition. They were married June 5, 1940 and separated September 13, 1944. Two children were born to this union.

L. J. Harned is the attorney for the plaintiff.

sure that no one branch of the service would dominate military thought. It provided that the chief of staff to the president and the chief of staff of the armed forces should at no time come from the same component.

It suggested the chief of staff to the president serve no more than two years, and the chief of staff for the armed forces no more than three, and the chiefs of staff for each of the three services not more than four.

The plan would continue the wartime system under which the theater commanders are selected by the president on the recommendation of the joint chiefs of staff and operate under directives prepared by the chiefs with the approval of the president.

Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy, will be heard tomorrow. Unlike navy men who have testified he favors the merger.

To Confer on Atomic Bomb Next Month

Three meeting in Potsdam.

President Truman recently told Congress he would soon initiate discussions looking to the renunciation of the atomic bomb. At the same time he called upon Congress to create a commission to control the domestic use and development of atomic energy.

Eben Ayres, assistant press secretary who released the White House announcement, was asked at a news conference later whether Generalissimo Stalin of Russia was invited to the conference. Ayres said he had no knowledge of such an invitation.

The house military committee, meanwhile, pushed along President Truman's proposals for atomic energy controls by approving legislation creating a nine-man commission to supervise domestic development of the new power.

The bill may reach the house floor next week.

Originally-proposed sharp restrictions on scientific research were vastly modified by the committee at the request of scientists and with the acquiescence of the war department.

The proposed commission would have general supervision over all activities in the field of atomic energy, would be empowered to acquire any mineral deposits and other properties used in its development of atomic energy. It could not, however, deal with foreign interests or individuals without presidential approval.

Approved on Roll Call

Committee members said the legislation was approved 17 to 10 on a roll-call vote.

Members of the atomic commission would be appointed by the president and be subject to senate confirmation. They would be paid $50 a day for the days they are required to work.

Most of the commission's duties would be handled largely by a $15,000-a-year administrator and a $12,000-a-year deputy appointed by the commission. However, neither the administrator nor his deputy could take any major action without commission approval.

The committee scaled down the penalties originally proposed for violations of commission regulations or safety laws. It struck out a provision for a 30-day jail sentence for inadvertent violations of security regulations and cut from 10 years imprisonment and a $100,000 fine to five years and $10,000 the maximum penalty for violations of security regulations through willfulness or gross negligence.

It left unchanged a penalty of 30 years imprisonment and a $300,000 fine for willfully dealing with anyone "with the intent to jeopardize the interests of the United States."

Anderson Be With Attlee

LONDON, Oct. 30.—(P)—Prime Minister Attlee told commons today he would be accompanied to an atomic power conference in Washington by Sir John Anderson, chairman of Britain's new advisory committee on atomic energy.

Attlee's statement in commons was made simultaneously with announcement of the conference in Washington.

Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill, now minority leader, expressed the hope the discussions would not be limited to a particular subject, but would range over "everything which will lead to good relations between ourselves and the United States."

Attlee told a commons member earlier that he was not now in a position to make a statement on Palestine, but added that he would as soon as possible. There has been speculation here that Palestine would be discussed during the British-American talks.

For Tax Cut of $5,920,000,000

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(P)—The house today gave its final blessing to the plan to reduce individual and business tax burdens by $5,920,000,000 in 1946.

The action came in approval by a roll call vote of the reduction measure worked out by house and senate conferees after through differing tax-slashing bills. The conference measure now goes to the senate for approval.

Before it voted the house heard a statement by Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of its appropriations committee that the reductions at this time would "contribute to inflation" and delay indefinitely the day of a balanced national budget.

On the other hand, Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the ways and means committee voiced the hope that the lowered tax rates will encourage business expansion and greater employment to such an extent that the government will suffer no reduction in revenue at all.

The senate will vote on the bill Thursday and the measure should be in President Truman's hands before the end of the week.

The house vote was 297 to 33.

Chinese Praise And Censure U.S.

By Spencer Moosa

CHUNGKING, Oct. 30.—(P)—The United States was alternately praised and censured in Chinese political circles today.

A Communist spokesman charged that America was interfering in Chinese internal affairs and asserted that any future turn in events in the troubled nation would partly at least depend on the amount of aid given by the United States to the central government.

But, the central government press here gave top play to President Truman's speech which was hailed by Ta Kung Pao as sending "American isolationism to the grave" and reaffirming the American foreign policy which "had never run counter to justice."

The World Daily News characterized the talk as offering relief to peace loving people and serving a "warning to big bullies."

Non-Communist quarters said they feared the communists might deliberately provoke an "incident" with American marines in North China, where a marine officer described the garrison's position as "walking a tight rope."

Object of any deliberately created incident, it was explained, would be to embarrass the United States and central government and create agitation for the withdrawal of the marines.

The marine officer said his forces, guarding the rail line needed for vital coal shipments into Tientsin, was using a combination of bluff, show of force and the appeal of the American flag conflict with "dissident forces."

military region disclosed that Vargas remained under army guard. His wife and daughter departed from the Palace last night during the coup. The communique said that "many arms and many documents have been apprehended" at various Communist headquarters in Rio de Janeiro.

It is known that Linhares, who also is head of the supreme electoral tribunal is opposed to any modification of the decree providing for the December election. Gen. Pedro Aurelio Goes Monteiro, minister of war and a dominant figure in forcing Vargas from office, likewise is on record as favoring the elections.

Maj. Gen. Eduardo Gomes, presidential candidate of the opposition "National Democratic Union" party hailed the transfer of power from Vargas to Linhares as "another important step in our national reconstruction."

Vargas had been president of Brazil longer than any other man and was a staunch friend of the United States. He led the sprawling republic into war against the Axis and facilitated the establishment of United States air and naval bases on Brazil, major factors in control of South Atlantic and deployment of United States forces to Africa and Europe.

The administration, for the first time in Brazilian history, sent a division to fight in Europe. During his regime, he weathered three uprisings, promulgated two constitutions and established a tight, centrally controlled government.

President Linhares is a native of Guaramiranga in the state of Ceara in northern Brazil. He studied medicine and law and became a distinguished criminal lawyer before being named to the bench in 1928. He was appointed to the supreme court in 1937.

Post Graduate Course For Future Warfare set up a large mobilization training program in a short time, while another plans a coordinated attack on a specific area. This "theater planning," as it is called, comes in the final six weeks, after three weeks spent studying recent operations in Europe and the western Pacific.

While no drastic change in military methods has been inserted in the command course, General Truesdell commented that the men were "trying to outguess the future. It is certain that military methods will have to be overhauled and renovated."

Other sections of the special training course include a study of national policies and complete regional surveys of a score of designated countries. The men work in the same rooms where little more than 10 years ago today's generals, including Eisenhower and Patton, attended the general staff school.

Eventually, the course will be lengthened to a year, and increased to about 100 students. General Truesdell hopes to add naval students. At present the naval aspects of military planning are handled by navy instructors attached to the general staff school.

At the end of the course, these 48 officers will be scattered at ports throughout the world, and another carefully picked group of the army's "very best men" will take their places.

Joins Wife Here After his Discharge

Sgt. Robert N. Stafford, who recently received his discharge from the army at Sioux City, Iowa, came to Sedalia and joined his wife, the former Anna Ruth Tonjes, for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Tonjes, before going to Flint, Mich., their former home, to reside.

Sgt. Stafford, who was in the Army Air Forces, was in service thirty-one months, twenty-four of which were spent overseas. He has the E. T. O. ribbon with six major battle stars, the distinguished unit citation with oak leaf cluster and the good conduct medal.

Nurse Overseas Near Four Years

Lieutenant Frances Ward, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Ward, 1404 South Barrett avenue, arrived home Sunday after nearly four years in the service, three of which were spent overseas in the European theatre of war. The lieutenant, who was in the Washington University medical school hospital unit, is now on terminal leave until February at which time she will receive her discharge.

She entered the service in February, 1942, at St. Louis, shortly after completing her nurse's training at the Jewish hospital in St. Louis, and was sent overseas in October of 1942, arriving in England. After a short time there she went to North Africa, remaining there one year, then into Italy for another year. From Italy she went to southern France, being stationed near Nancy. For three months she was at the Anzio beachhead and while there was under fire.

Lieut. Ward arrived back in the United States a little more than a week ago going to Camp Patrick Henry in Virginia and then was sent to Ft. Sheridan, Ill., a separation center. She wears the European theatre of war ribbon with three battle stars, the American theater and also a unit citation ribbon.

Lieut. Ward attended Smith-Cotton high school and was graduated in the class of 1934. She will remain in Sedalia until the first of the year and in January will enter Vanderbilt to receive her degree in public health.

Place: State Guard Armory.
Time: Tuesday, 8:30 p.m.

A wrestling card of "headliners" appears at the State Guard armory at 8:30 o'clock tonight. It is sponsored by the Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion. It should be a show filled with plenty of excitement, due to the bouts which were made possible by signing all men who are "main event" talent.

The feature event is between "Big Ben" Morgan, Rogers, Ark., the huge wrestler with the heavy beard and the strength of a bull, meeting Vic Holbrook, Hollywood, California, who is talented with numerous wrestling holds, which he hopes to apply to the 310-lb. Morgan.

Holbrook explained his "abdominal stretch" has a much better effect on a larger man than on a lighter one and he is going to endeavor to put Morgan to the mat with it tonight.

Ralph Garibaldi, East St. Louis, Ill., claimant to the Missouri heavyweight title, will endeavor to tame Ray "Handlebar Mustache" Graham of Dallas, Texas, in the semi-windup affair. There should be plenty of action and excitement in this match.

The match which should have plenty of wrestling in it is the preliminary which brings together Ken Fenelon of Dubuque, Ia., and Dan O'Connor of Boston, Mass. The Irishman from Boston has appeared in two previous shows in Sedalia and like Fenelon has won many followers among the local fans.

Jimmy Parker, heavyweight wrestler, has been signed to referee the bouts tonight in place of Jimmy Atkinson. Parker is just as rough and tough as the wrestlers and can take care of himself if any rough stuff is displayed by the contestants.

Sports Roundup

Family Style
The first "woman" to join the Syracuse, N. Y., women's bowling association this fall was seven-year-old Patti Gould of Fayetteville, whose mother, grandmother and three aunts bowl on the same team.

Secret Practice
When the Oklahoma U. football team was on its way to play Kansas State at Manhattan, Kas., last week, freshman guard Lester Jensen was left behind at the Emporia, Kas., station. . . . Lester started hitchhiking and nearly wound up at the wrong place. . . . "I almost went to Lawrence (the home of Kansas U.) instead of Manhattan," Jensen confessed. "All I knew was that we were playing some Kansas team." . . . Looks like a job for the Sooner scouts before the next game.

Shorts and Shells
Washington landed a "problem child" when it bought Larry Brunker from the Chattanooga Lookouts recently. Larry won 15 and lost one on the mound and can hit so the problem will be whether he should pitch or play in the outfield. . . . Featherweight Champ Willie Pep makes his first ring start since he came out of the army against Paulie Jackson at Hartford, Conn., tonight. . . . Don Faurot, heading back to his old job as Missouri grid coach, points out that the Tigers have two years to go on their interrupted contract with Fordham. But Don points out: "We don't want

No Shortage Here

Clothing still remains critical but Capt. "Chink" Coleman, coach at the Wentworth Military Academy at Lexington, has beaten the problem. Anticipating torn football pants during practice, he arranged for C. E. Reed, the school's tailor, to service uniforms on the spot. Here he mends the pants of Cadet Al Talbot, a tackle from Muncie, Ind. (ASSOCIATED PRESS PHOTO) to resume unless Fordham has teams something like they used to have.

Community News from Green Ridge

Mrs. Verna Palmer
Fred Bills, who was overseas 11 months serving with the 748th field artillery in France and Germany, has been discharged from military duty and has returned home. He received the Good Conduct medal and two battle stars on his ETO ribbon.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Gregory entertained recently with a family dinner at their home, near Green Ridge, in honor of their son, Vernon Gregory and family, who are leaving soon for Iowa City, Ia., to make their home. Others present were: Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gregory and son, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon McMullin of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Liebmann of St. Louis, Mrs. Perdita Gregory and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Ballew of LaMonte.

George Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carlson of Green Ridge, who has spent the past three years in England with the Eighth Air Force, has returned to the United States and received his discharge from military duty at Jefferson Barracks. At present he is visiting his parents.

F/O Kenneth Ruffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Price Ruffin, is spending a short furlough with his parents. He is stationed at Scott Field, Ill.

Any Snowflakes
Big as Doilies

YES ☐ ? NO ☐

Exquisite five-inch patterns of lacework—melting! . . . Oversize snowflakes like that are on record—rare beauties! More often though, Winter is nasty. Still you'll make it be decent to your aging car, by changing to Conoco Nth motor oil now—safeguarding your engine's insides with OIL-PLATING!

Here's patented oil with the added ingredient to assure magnet-like action. And that's how lubricant is closely bonded in place . . . OIL-PLATED to surfaces which it shields from lots of Winter wear, including dread corrosion.

In fact where there's OIL-PLATING remaining surfaced the whole cold night, there's lubricant ready faster than instantly to oppose Winter starting wear. The more wear you kill off, the more you'll retard sludging and carbonizing. Do it today; get Conoco Nth motor oil—patented.

NLB Ruling In Donnelly Case Is Reversed

U. S. Court Of Appeals Gives 2-1 Decision

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The U. S. court of appeals reversed Monday a National Labor Relations Board order directing the Donnelly Garment Company of Kansas City to disestablish the Donnelly Garment Workers' Union.

In a 54-page opinion, the appellate court held in a two-to-one decision that there is no substantial evidence in the record to support the order of the National Labor Relations Board.

The dispute arose out of a complaint of unfair labor practices filed with the NLRB on April 27, 1939 by the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union. The NLRB ordered was handed down on June 9, 1943.

Charged Unfair Practices
 The International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union had charged the Donnelly company with unfair labor practices in organizing the company union and dominating it in an attempt to frustrate its own efforts to bring the employees into its ranks. The company charged the international union with fraud, terrorism and violence in attempting to organize its workers in a campaign begun 10 years ago.

Judges John B. Sanborn and Walter Riddick wrote the majority opinions. Judge Joseph W. Woodrough dissented.

"The charges of misconduct made by the company and the plant union against the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union are not without substance as shown by the record," Judge Sanborn wrote.

"It is our conclusion the company and the plant union have not yet had the full and fair trial to which they are constitutionally entitled. It is apparent that it had before it and had considered all the competent and relevant evidence which it was required to receive and consider. We do not question the sincerity of the board's belief."

Could Appeal
 In order to resolve the controversy over the question of due process of law, Judge Sanborn said the board "would be entirely justified" in further appeal.

"The questions herein presented," he wrote, "are of importance both to the NLRB and to administration of the act, also to the company, the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, to the public, and particularly to the 1,200 employees of the company, whose rights are involved."

Incomplete Picture
 "In conclusion we cannot avoid the conclusion that in the absence of rejected testimony, the record presents an incomplete picture. The prayer of the board for a decree of this court enforcing the order under review is denied for want of due process in the proceedings upon which the order is based."

Judge Riddick wrote: "This case is unusual among labor disputes. The employer and all its employees, approximately 1,200, are now and have been since the beginning of the case aligned on the same side of the controversy. This fact is of controlling significance."

"For more than seven years the 1,200 employees have defended the plant union at great expense to themselves before every tribunal in which its integrity has been called in question. There have been no defections from their (employees) ranks. None of them permitted to testify have been impeached on the witness stand. The credibility of none of them has been attacked..."

Here is ONE Gasoline that is DIFFERENT!

NEW D-X Provides Correct UPPER-CYLINDER LUBRICATION ...at no extra cost

Engine Parts Protected by the Special Lubricant Blended into D-X Motor Fuel

Ordinary gasolines do not contain a special, heat-resisting lubricant to protect valves, pistons, rings and upper-cylinder walls. But New D-X does—it is different. New D-X protects these vital engine parts, where the most wear occurs and where repairs are most frequently needed. In addition, New D-X is a great motor fuel in regular performance features...extra power, speed, mileage... higher octane rating...quicker starting. Prove the difference in your own car with a tankful of New D-X or D-X Ethyl. Sold on a money-back guarantee by all D-X Stations!
